Carmel Needs Scenic Highway Designation

The City Council took an important step last night in the effort to link the Monterey-Salinas highway to the Coast Highway below Carmel River in the state's first scenic highway system. Due to the efforts of former State Senator Fred Farr, the section of State Highway 1 from the Carmel River south to the Monterey County line, became the state's first specifically labelled scenic highway. More recently the Monterey-Salinas Road was given this designation.

If action can be secured to connect the two presently designated scenic routes, the coming realignment and construction of the new road structures from the Carmel Hill to the Carmel River, may ultimately become much more esthetically pleasing than would otherwise be the case.

Last night's scenic highway resolution was addressed to the State Highway Department's District Engineer at San Luis Obispo, but there was an indication from Councilman Herbert Blanks that the resolution might eventually be addressed to Monterey County's representatives in the State Legislature—State Senator Donald Grunsky and Assemblyman Alan Pattee.

Further action could also conceivably be taken to implement a resolution passed about a year ago by the City Council to suggest termination of the present freeway at the top of Carmel Hill rather than continuing it to "a point two-tenths of a mile south of the Carmel River" to which the State Highway Department still has in mind eventually extending it.

Seven Arrested For Loitering In Park

Four adults and three juveniles have been arrested this week for the new ordinance passed unanimously at last Wednesday's council meeting which outlaws loitering in public places.

Mayor Barney Laiolo accompanied by a Carmel police officer made the arrests in Devendorf Plaza and charged persons with protracted lounging and willful loitering.

"We're out to clean up Carmel" declared Police Chief Clyde Klaumann. "I've gotten hundreds of lettres from residents and visitors who complain of the unsightly congregating and loitering in the park and asking why can't we do something to protect the image of Carmel. The new ordinance Gives us this power, the Chief said".

Mayor Laiolo said that

School Budget Approved; New Teachers Hired

No objections were raised at the public hearing on the school budget for 1968-69 at the meeting Wednesday night of the Carmel School District Board. Of Board members, only Steven Sassoon, president, Dr. Robert Newton and Richard Wilsdone were present.

The final figures based on assessed valuation were $85,377,981 up 7.74% from last year. It appears, said District business manager Walter E. Hinton, that the tax rate for 1968-69 will be $2.892 which is 18.2 cents per hundred higher than last year, but 1.8 cents per hundred less than our original estimate. Of the 18.2 cents

CITY RAISES TAX TAKE

By Gunnar Norberg

At the very end of last night's three-hour meeting, the City Council reached the tax-rate decision toward which it had been working during many June-and-July meetings. And the new rate set is $1.26—up three cents from last year. Because of the large increase in property valuations, due to last summer's steep rise in assessments and because of an added one-cent hostelry tax, many had hoped that a substantial drop in the city tax rate for fiscal 1968-69, could be achieved. This hope could not be realized perhaps principally because of an across-the-board salary increase for city employees, because of the authorization of additional policemen, and because of a $6,000 increase in the library budget.

While Councilman Herbert Blanks pointed particularly to the increased library budget, Councilman Eben Whittlesey felt that proper cognizance had to be taken of the added salary expense which the over-all city budget compelled.

The vote adopting the 1968-69 city budget and setting the new $1.26 tax rate, was unanimous on the part of the four Council members present at last night's meeting. Mayor Barney Laiolo and Councilman Ken Brown joined Councilmen Blanks and Whittlesey in the action. Councilman Frank Falge was absent, and

Dog Law, Hippies, Hitchhiking Occupy Council

From dog laws to Devendorf Park rules, from "hippies" to hitchhiking, from sidewalk litter to sidewalk care, from "house-watch" in the residential areas to "door-shake" along business streets—the City Council last night dealt with a long list and a wide variety of City regulatory functions. And, in between times, it sold discarded school-type lockers to the Carmel Unified School District for a dollar, and discarded fire hose to the White Rock Club in the Carmel Valley for ten dollars.

Main intent of the new dog ordinance, which was given first reading last night, was to spell out that dogs

Patricia Barto

Designer Visiting Us

Patricia Barto obviously didn't know her way around the Sunshine Center laundromat and she obviously didn't look like a typical housewife, so I questioned her for the Pine Cone.

She is designing the clothes being worn by the feminine star of a Warner Brothers picture, "The Big Bounce," being filmed in the Carmel-Pebble Beach area.

Color scheme for the clothes worn by Leigh Taylor-Young is white on white — pure white, off white, mushroom white, etc.

Miss Barto started with Edith Head at Paramount in 1950 and worked with her for ten years. Then she was executive designer at Columbia for three years and did the Bat Man TV show for three years.

She has two hobbies, portrait painting and sewing. In connection with the latter, she likes to collect fabrics.

She invited us to visit one of the spots you may have seen being filmed, at the homes of Samuel F.B. Morse and Alger Chaney, or in the artichoke fields.

They were all sitting down to a barbecued steak dinner prepared for them out of doors by the Shutters Restaurant. We met the two young stars, Miss Leigh Taylor-Young and her husband, Ryan O'Neal. Mr. O'Neal, by the way, came down with the measles as soon as they arrived. They had to shoot without him for two weeks. They did some boat shots up in Santa Cruz which was overcast too.

We also met James Daly, looking natty in a plaid jacket, the producer, William Dozier, and the director, Alex March. There was quite a large crew of cameramen, electricians and their families on hand, as well as extras and Mexican field hands. Strung along Route 1 were large trailers containing dressing rooms and equipment.

Motorists fumed as traffic was held up temporarily so that the sound of passing cars wouldn't be picked up by sound equipment.

The cast and staff, we learned, which includes Van Heflin (his son, Tracy, is here), is staying at the nearby Holiday Inn.

It was fun visiting the set and meeting some of these glamorous people from Hollywood.

Sang Under Usigli

Miss Rachel Morton, former opera singer, and one of the Bach Festival reviewers, was a soloist in one of the Bach Festivals under Gaston Usigli during the 40's.

She and her pupil, Miss Anne Barrows, share a beautiful new home with a gorgeous view of Carmel Valley.

PINE NEEDLES

Postcard From Dorothy von Meier

Williamsburg is lovely, grassy and green
Pink crepe-myrtle trees mid the others are seen
Brick sidewalks are clean—no garish signs.
Costumed guides shepherd the tourists in lines.
I've seen horses, bullocks and sheep but nary a dog!
And oh, what I'd give for some cool Carmel fog.
I'm resting and writing as a refreshener
While sitting beside the air-conditioner.

Visiting Carmel

The former La Favorita, Robin Robison, now Mrs. James Vaughn, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelburn Robison. Her little girl, Shawna, is with her.

She and her husband are now stationed at Alameda where Jim is in the missile program, after living in Arizona for a time.

Operation Shoestring

Susan Tousey, and Terry McFann, both 13, participated full time in the first month of Operation Shoestring at St. Mathias Church in Seaside this summer.

The girls took care of the littlest children, ages four to six and thought it was lots of fun working with little children of other racial and national backgrounds.

The mothers of the girls, Mrs. Thomas G. Tousey Jr. and Mrs. Howard H. McFann, took turns driving the girls over and picking them up. Susan is looking forward to doing it again next year.

Clock Restaurant Clears $1500 For Operation Shoestring

Operation Shoestring, a program to keep Seaside children, ages 4 through 15, occupied during summer vacation, was given a boost of $1500 from a benefit luncheon and dinner put on by the Clock Garden Restaurant in Monterey.

When Robert Canon and James Stone, owners of the restaurant heard about Operation Shoestring, they decided to help.

They contacted the Rev. H. H. Lusk of the Bethel Baptist Church of Seaside, founder of the volunteer activity program.

Canon and Stone along with their 16 employees donated their time and premises for the benefit luncheon and dinner, Monday. Suppliers donated food and liquor.

Edith Clancy of Carmel agreed to organize fashion shows. Mark Fenwick and Rose Brown Shop of Carmel were among shops sending models to the shows.

The partners sent out 500 announcements to local residents. Swamped with reservations, the restaurant served the biggest luncheon of its history. Diners were entertained by Flamenco guitars, also gratis.

Everyone pitched in to help wash dishes, peel potatoes, serve as busboys and had a wonderful time.

Upshot was that they were able to turn over $1500 to Operation Shoestring, of which $250 consisted of tips given to employees. Only government sales tax and printing costs were deducted.

1000 Mile Bicycle Trip for CHS Students

Brian Bennett and Eric Garrison, Carmel High School sophomores, have ended their 1000 mile bicycle trip to Denver. Stepbrothers, they have rejoined their family who have been camping at Donner Lake.

The trip to Denver was eventful enough, crossing deserts and mountains; sleeping in jails so their bikes would be safe; performing folk masses at Episcopal churches along the way like the ones they had done at All Saints' before they left; and working at odd jobs to earn food money.

In Denver, Brian's 10 speed bike, locked in a rack outside a movie theatre, was stolen.

Thoroughly dejected, they were sure the trip was over. The Denver Post learned of the theft and printed a picture story about their unlucky break.

An anonymous fairy godmother changed their luck by calling to invite them to meet her at the Schwinn shop. There she presented Brian with a duplicate of the stolen bike. Needless to say, they were amazed at her generosity.

On the trip back they continued to present the American Folk Song Mass at churches. Most congregations were shocked to hear guitars, banjoes and folk songs in a church service.

In Salt Lake City, they stayed with the Rev. Lloyd Johnston who was recently called there from his post as assistant at All Saints' Church in Carmel. He had helped the boys by arranging for lodging in Episcopal churches throughout their trip.

A blown out tire in Little America, Wyoming was the only mishap of the return trip to Donner Lake.

Camera Club Shows Slides at Fair

For the five days of the fair, Aug. 7 through 11, Padre Trails Camera Club will present a 30-minute program of color slides on the central stage of the open air theatre.

Accompanying the 80 slides will be a taped commentary explaining how members of Padre Trails Camera Club learn to make better photographs, and outlining some of the activities of the group.

The slide show is scheduled from 9 to 9:30 p.m., on Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. On Thursday the show will be from 9:30 to 10 p.m.

Any Fairgoer interested in learning more about membership in Padre Trails Camera Club will be a welcome guest at the next club meeting, to be held Aug. 15 at 8 p.m., in Brey Hall at Carmel High School.

Music will be provided by the Len Sabia Quartet. Coffee and refreshments will be included in the admission fee.

There will be spot and door prizes. British style pork pies will be on sale.

All members are required to show their membership cards at the door.

For further information members are asked to call 384-7065 or 384-9660.

"Instant movies," Mrs. Romaine Wetmore illustrates "how" to the other two judges, Mr. Thomas Graff, Carmel's Village Theatre, and Mr. Ralph Geddis, Tantamount Theatre, Carmel Valley. They will be the jury for the first annual Monterey Independent Film Makers Festival to be held at the Montrey Public Library at 8:00 p.m. on August 29, 30 and 31. Entries of 16mm, 8mm or Super 8 film are invited and due for review on or before August 16. The festival will be free to the public.

Drug Information Center Open

R. S. Fraser, M.D., Director of Public Health for Monterey, has announced the opening of a Drug Information Center for the people of Monterey County in Carmel on the southeast corner of Ninth and Lincoln.

Services offered by the center are, consultation with existing agencies for drug education, maintenance of a library of resource materials and training aids, maintenance of a supply of educational materials for public distribution at a modest cost, maintenance of a speakers bureau on drug education, sponsorship of a Drug Information Institute for the training of those involved in drug education, and operation of a counseling program for drug users and their families.

The Drug Information Center will be staffed, according to Fraser, by residents of Monterey County who are professionals in their respective fields.

No staff member will receive remuneration for services, said Fraser.

Individual and group contacts with the Center are confidential.

The office is now open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and a 24-hour emergency service is available by dialing 373-4491.

Ever Been to a Garage Sale in The Pine Inn Court?

John Grissim is disgusted with the purveyors of sartorial elegance. Ties should be "yea" wide this year—last year's widths are "out". Shirts should have stripes that are "just-so" far apart —otherwise you're not "with it."

Now, when most men buy a good shirt or tie they expect to wear it for several years, and hang the fashion foibles of the dandies.

If you are one of those men and want to save a buck, you can shop surrounded by Victorian elegance at John Grissim's unique garage sale in the Pine Inn Court.

Big Sur Architect Nat Owings On Cover Of Time Magazine

World-renowned architect Nathaniel A. Owings, who has designed more than $3 billion worth of construction projects in his long, distinguished career, is the subject of the cover story in the latest issue of Time magazine.

A picture of the 65-year-old Big Sur resident, the remaining founder of the highly respected architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, is on the cover of the Aug. 2 issue.

The magazine's "Modern Living" section is 13 pages of story and pictures devoted entirely to architects and deals in depth with Owings and his nationwide firm which has offices in San Francisco, Portland, Washington, D.C., Chicago and New York City .

On July 5, the architect-planner proposed a convention facility-hotel development for the Monterey waterfront property owned largely by Southern Pacific.

Owings' recommendations were contained in a master plan developed for Southern Pacific and call for the hotel-convention center to be located in the parking lot area of Fishermen's Wharf and the adjacent eight acres owned by Southern Pacific.

But Owings' Monterey plans are small in comparison with some of the work credited to him by Time.

The career that skyrocketed Nathaniel Alexander Owings to the pinnacle of his profession began at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933.

According to Time, it "led on to some of the largest and most handsome corporate structures anywhere, ranging from Manhattan's Lever House to San Francisco's Crown Zellerbach building."

During his career, the Big Sur resident has received an award of merit from the American Institute of Archtects for his design of Carmel Valley Manor.

The award was described as "the nation's higest professional recognition for architectural merit."

30,000 Deer Hunters

Forest Supervisor, William H. Hansen, announced today that the Los Padres National Forest expects to host at least 30,000 deer hunters over the opening weekend of the coastal deer season. Saturday, August 3rd was the first day of the season, which will last through September 22nd.

Supervisor Hansen asked that all users of the forest be especially careful in the use of fire during this opening weekend of deer season. He reminded that all open fires are prohibited, smoking and camping is permitted in designated areas only and certain areas are closed to entry due to high fire hazard.

Hansen also emphasized that Condors, Hawks, Owls, Eagles and Turkey Vultures are protected by State Law. Hunters should be careful, particularly in the Mt. Pinos area where recent sightings of the California Condor have been made.

Fun Fare At Circle Theatre

The George M. Cohan Broadway hit, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," a hilarious mystery-farce of thieves and crooked politicians was presented last weekend by Community Theatre at the Circle Theatre on Casanova at Eighth.

So convincing were Eugene W. Hilton and Jean McGill as the elderly caretakers of the lonely mountain-top Baldpate Inn in the dead of winter, they were affectionately applauded as they left the stage. Their old-fashioned country speech was a spcial joy.

The fine set, complete with fireplace and the sound of the whistling wind contributed to the chill atmosphere which set the stage for a melodramatic spoof containing every cliche known to pulp fiction.

Marshall Breeze played the part of the hack writer who had come to this lonely place on a bet that he could turn out an entire book in 24 hours. Mr. Breeze was a trifle youthful for this long part, but he did a creditable job with it.

The audience chuckled sympathetically with all the interruptions in the form of a beautiful girl, appealingly acted by Wendy Grissom, with whom he proceeded to fall in love at first sight; her charming chaperon, Kay Carlson, who had a romantic interest in the crooked mayor; a wild and fiendish hermit, Vern Peckover.

Further interruptions were provided by the aforementioned mayor played by Al Olinger whose henchman, played by Bob Nixon, hid the two hundred thousand dollars in the safe; a bitter double crossing moll, Gloria Wheeler, who did a great acting job; her confederate, Bill Johnson, whose emotional power, facial mannerisms and body movements were compelling, but whose accent was too educated for the part.

After the moll has been murdered, our hero held them all at bay until chief of police John R. O'Malley, with appropriate accent, arrived with his very youthful officer, Scott Wheeler. The police chief decided to make off with the money but was foiled by the long haired, goony hermit. Even the man who proposed the bet, played by Oscar Villalobos, showed up, before the trick ending.

Very well directed by Charles Thomas, and staged by Ruth Fry, the old comedy is well worth resurrecting. It is a real fun evening which will alternate weekends through Labor Day with "See How They Run."

Art Show At Fair

"At the Monterey County Fair the art lover can see examples of the latest of everything that is being done in one of the great art centers of the West," according ot Jesse Corsaut, artist, associated with the art show for nine years.

Most of the art on display is for sale.

Corsaut couldn't say if this year's show will demonstrate any new trends. He remembers some of the things on display last year were "pretty wild." This year's show probably will continue in that pattern, he predicts.

Among the artists who have exhibited work in the traditional division in past art shows at the Fair are:

—Leslie Emery, the Carmel artist, best known for his portraits of elderly people.

—Lynford Donovan, Pebble Beach resident, whose specialty is portraits of children.

Advocates of the modern school of art, who have exhibited at past fairs, include Gerald Wasserman and Alex Gonzales, both of Carmel.

Garden Art Show By D'Annunzio

The garden of "Make-Believe" Cottage, Casanova between 12th and 13th, will be the setting for an exhibit of Alfred D'Annunzio's latest paintings and graphics, next Sunday, August 12, from 2 to 5 p.m. The showing is open to all interested in seeing it.

Mr. D'Annunzio, instructor at the Palo Alto Art Club, will conduct a special session of outdoor classes in oils and/or felt pen this summer, from August 12 through August 16 in this spot.

For those who enjoy painting out of doors, this is an opportunity to study with this artist and teacher.

Mr. D'Annunzio studied many years in Rome. He has shown extensively on the San Francisco Peninsula where he has won many awards, and in the East.

For further information please call 624-9647. He will hold classes in Honolulu the following two weeks.

Teague Will Show In Mexico City

Donald Teague, NA, Carmel artist, will be among the 50 watercolorists chosen by the American Watercolor Society, to show his work at an exhibition this month at the Museo de la Acuarela in Mexico City. The showing is in connection with the cultural festival which will celebrate the city's role as host to the Olympic Games. On view concurrently will be work by artists from 25 countries.

'You Did It Again . . .'

A classified advertiser told the Pine Cone. "Rented my cottage, that is, two hours after the paper hit the street. I've had it in your For Rent columns before, and never had it empty a day. But this was the fastest ever."

Sculpture and Painting Exhibit at MP Museum of Art

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art will present during August a two-man show by sculptor C. B. Johnson and painter Ben Bishop, both of whose works are well-known in this area.

C. B. Johnson of San Francisco has been called by critics one of the most penetrating and exciting of West Coast sculptors. Born in Macon, Georgia, Johnson says he was really born in San Francisco the day he first saw it over 25 years ago. Working mainly in stone and marble, his dream-like creations are at once both representational and abstract. He has expanded his media to include bronze.

Ben Bishop, of New York, will show a group of miniature paintings. One of the best known of Peninsula painters when he lived here in 1965-66, he is presently an assistant professor at State University College in New Paltz, New York. His local friends and followers will be both surprised and delighted with this show as it will be a complete departure from his well-remembered large, bold canvasses.

The exhibits will be open to the public from August 10 through September 7 at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, Lincoln Street between Ocean & 7th. Gallery hours are from 11-5 Monday through Friday and from 2-5 on Saturdays. Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association members and their guests are invited to meet Mr. Johnson at a Preview Reception on Friday, August 9 from 6 until 8 p.m.

Foundation Exhibit

The Carmel Foundation Town House Art Exhibit for the month of August is Oils, Acrylics, and Pastels done by members of the Art Class under the direction of Mrs. G. H. Guttridge.

Mrs. Guttridge studied Art at Vassar College and Grand Central Art School and has exhibited her etchings at the De Young Museum, Legion of Honor, and the San Francisco Museum of Art.

Her pupils are Mrs. W. B. Pohlmann, Mrs. J. Frank McKay, Mrs. L. W. Corbett, Mrs. H. MacDonald, and Miss J. H. Hughes.

Town House is located at Lincoln & 8th and is open to the public 10 to 4 p.m. week days.

Eskimo Graphic Art

A collection of Eskimo graphic art will be the special exhibition for August at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. It is an art form created from sealskin stencils and stone cuts. Subjects cover demons and myths and free imagination.

The Museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily except Monday.

Jaxon Gallery at New Location

The Jaxon Gallery is now at home in its new location on the second level of El Prado de Su Vecino on Dolores Street near 6th. The spacious new quarters are the home of Carmel's oldest public art studio gallery established in 1956.

Mr. Jaxon paints only in oils, which give him the depth of color and plastic quality he works to achieve. His desire is to establish a personal communication between himself and his public, therefore his subjects are all recognizable. He works in a variety of techniques. Using clean, strong colors he does street scenes, imaginative portraits, landscapes, seascapes, everything but still life which does not interest him. He is a capable and sincere artist.

Mr. Jaxon studied art at the University of Montana and Washington. He has had private instruction with prominent painters in Los Angeles and New York City.

Gilbert Boyer Jr. In Malaysia

Kuala Lumpur—We have now been in Malaysia about a week and we find it very refreshing after India. The streets are clean and you can drink tap water. There is a great variety of food available: Malayan Muslim, Hindu, European and Chinese. The people are very open and friendly, well-dressed and clean. The traffic is orderly and even polite, though they still drive on the wrong side of the road. The evenings are often cool and comfortable because of evening thundershowers (terrifying things). We got a running start out of a bus for the five yards to a tea shop and in less than one second in the open, got soaked to the skin.

We spent three days in a Penang Chinese house of prostitution after getting off the ship. The Sikh Temple (free) was full, the youth hostel (thirty-three cents) was full, and the YMCA ($1.00) was full, so we started on the Chinese hotels and found a triple room for thirty-three cents per man (there were four of us). I slept on the floor where I'm more comfortable than in a too soft, too short bed anyway.

Since the room and the "Blitz" clean restaurant downstairs were so clean and quiet, we didn't notice anything the first night, but the next afternoon, the "star" of the outfit started working on us and then about 5:00 we noticed that men would come in, the balcony doors would be closed and the women would disappear. We stayed on anyway and once they were sure we were only hotel customers, the women and the house father treated us as normal guests and turned out to be nice people.

Let me tell you about the cookery in Malaysia, or rather the show cookery of one of the many Chinese cooks on the street.

He's the main attraction of a restaurant built in modern ice cream parlor style in the corner building across from our hotel. The walls, floor, and supporting columns of the two open sides are tiled and all is bathed in super-white arena light from fluorescent lamps. There are a cigarette counter, a blue and white striped ice cream-chest, round white tables on steel pedestals, painted aluminum chairs and a juke box.

But the two wall-less windowless side are not completely free. The long side has two Chinese kitchens extending all the way to the gutter on the sidewalk, and the short side facing the road the skating Chinese cook and showman extraordinaire has his kitchen, which consists of a 10 foot long shelf with open cupboards, a box of charcoal with tongs, a small table set out a little into the sidewalk and a closed charcoal brazier—all in a row.

The cook, a Chinese of indefinite age with a large chest and muscular legs, wearing a pair of shorts and a perspiration soaked, clean white undershirt, is served by two women who prepare the raw materials on the shelf, a girl who does dishwashing and serving, and a 12 year old boy who serves and collects the money. Like Oriental business around the whole, it's obviously a family operation.

They show up at about 8 p.m. and carefully prepare for the show which gets into swing at about 10. Until then the cook warms up slowly, arranging his tools and implements carefully; each object has its correct place and position. In these two hours he cooks some but doesn't really develop any rhythm until the orders start coming in hot and heavy and he has a large audience. Then the show really starts.

With his legs making the same movements as a skater, he skates on a wet, one yard square of floor between the charcoal, the brazier and the table. One beautiful, powerful stroke with his right leg as he with the long ladle in his right hand scoops with one ballet motion the fat and soy sauce from two different bowls and pours the mixture into his flying-saucer-shaped boiling pan and with a pushing pirouette from the left foot, picks up his pot cover with the long spatula in his left hand, throws the pot cover on the pan and twirls away from the rising tower of steam and flames on his right leg. Then, as the mixture heats up to the right temperature, he aesthetically skates in place, taking his bows as it were.

Now the mixture is ready for the noodles and different Chinese vegetables and condiments, each of which he throws with great grace and elan into the pan with swinging half-circles of his spatula and ladle, all the while skating figure eights. Then, pushing like a speed skater, he goes to the pan and with quick, fancifully rhythmic motions first turns the pan with his spatula and ladle, then mixes, then turns, all the while gathering speed until, spinning in the air, he throws the hot, delicious mixture into a waiting bowl; the flying noodles forming a three foot long, Chinese milky way.

One meal finished, still skating furiously, he ladles water into the pan, flings the ladle onto a waiting hook, scrubs the pan with a brush and lets the water cascade into the gutter. Then he starts again.

It's like a magic show, ballet and ice capades all roled into one man.

Ethel Gerome of Santa Cruz SAVED $2.86 On One Shopping Trip To Safeway Discount

To check the facts, we asked Ethel Gerome of 1221 - 30th Avenue in Santa Cruz, to compare food prices in this area. From her own shopping list, she shopped at Safeway Discount where she spent $32.20. Then, on the same day, she bought the identical list of items at another supermarket. At that store the total was $35.06. That's a savings of $2.86 at Safeway Discount. If you'd like more proof, make your own comparison. See how quality and savings go hand in hand at Safeway Discount.

The pirate's treasure has been buried deep and the key to its location won't be disclosed until some time during the five-day span between August 7 and 11. Clues will be available just inside the main gate of Monterey County Fair where "Tiny Tim" the pirate stands guard.

Peanuts Is The Name Of The Game

A pirate's chest of peanuts 12 feet high will greet fairgoers as they enter the main gate at the fair, Aug. 7 through 11. There "Tiny Tim" the pirate will invite fairgoers to inspect his treasure of peanuts concealed inside a glass-walled chest.

Once they've scanned the contents of the chest, Tim will hand each fairgoer a map of "Tri-County Island." It lists the prizes available in all major cities on the "island" to the fairgoer who correctly estimates the number of peanuts in Tim's chest, and traces the route to each hiding place (in the store of a participating merchant.

Entry blanks, two to a fairgoer, are supplied with the map. They must be filed in Tim's mini-treasure chests, which will be open all five days of the fair.

The gifts which await the fairgoer whom fortune favors must be claimed by visiting the hiding places marked on the map of Tri-County Island. If not sought out within six months they will be forever hidden.

Fortune's top gift, among many valuable gifts, will be one day's interest on a million dollars—and that's not peanuts in 1968.

EDUCATION & FINANCIAL SECURITY GO HAND IN HAND

You are providing your son with a sound education — Why not also guarantee him the financial security and protection he will need for the future?

The Sun Life Junior Adjustable policy protects you while the children are your dependents . . . and later it protects their families.

At age 21 the assurance protection this policy provides increases to as much as five times the initial level, depending upon the option elected.

The increased coverage requires no additional medical examination and no increase in premium; in fact, the premium rate charged will be lower than if the increased protection were purchased new at age 21.

(The Policy is participating and contains guaranteed cash values and non-forfeiture provisions)

Carmel Artists Decorate Fair

Joan Snow, commercial artist, and Marcia McGinnis, fine arts graduate of Yale University, are again working as a team to decorate the Monterey County Fair being held this weekend.

Marcia is working on an Urban Renewal project in Boston in off-fair months. She also recently designed the new uniform for Boston's police force.

Miss Gay Fremier has been appointed to the position of Personnel Manager for the Emporium Dept. Store's Stonestown branch. The store employs about 700 people. Miss Fremier, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fremier, was a 1960 Carmel High School graduate.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

This is summer and an off season for good books, which leads us smoothly to the first one for today. It is THE UNIMPORTANCE OF BEING OSCAR by Oscar Levant. Once again he has done a potpourri of anecdotes, name dropping, and constant reminders of his own cleverness. It will circulate.

The college protest scene has made it into fiction at last. The title of the book is THE ADDISON TRADITION and it was written by John Morressy who is an English professor at New York University. For all the fact that the author teaches English, it seems to this librarian that his writing style is commonplace. The interesting thing is that the book is timely for it concerns itself with the decision of a young professor to join in student demonstrations, on the side of the students. He does so, lands in jail, and from then on he is embroiled in campus politics. This is fiction and cannot settle anything. There is no standard right or rule of wrong which applies to these college mix-ups. These things must differ with each set of circumstances. But at Addison College, it went as Morressy tells it.

Little monsters and pests are the subjects of NOBODY LOVES A COCKROACH by Bill Ballantine. He begins with a chapter on cockroaches, and continues his book with chapters on flies, ants, bats, spiders, wasps, termites and finally pesticides. And about time!! This may sound like a textbook for a pest inspector, but actually it is for the everyday host to almost any type of household pest. The writing is on the gay side and is interesting. Happy exterminating to you!

Of late years Richard Llewellyn has departed from the style of HOW GREEN WAS MY VALLEY but he still writes well in any style. His latest is a novel of suspense and espionage. Its title is THE END OF THE RUG. The scene is England, the plot twists around England's entry into the Common Market. Someway, it doesn't sound interesting, but it is.

George Adamson, husband of Joy Adamson, has done another book about their lions. Elsa, heroine of BORN FREE, is now dead. Main characters in this book are named Boy and Girl, which must show something about the Adamsons having run out of names, which is only human. This is familiar country and characters to devotees of the Adamson books. The title of this one is A LIFETIME WITH LIONS.

Until our second summer comes and the weather improves there is little you can do beside read a good book in front of the fire. These are worth reading and there are hundreds more just as readable on our shelves. And we now have so many records we cannot shelve them in the record rack, so do take home a few to try on your sound system.

Carmel Students Accepted

Miss Barbara Jeanne Bruce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bruce of Carmel, is enrolled this summer at the University of the Americas located in Mexico City.

Miss Bruce graduated from Carmel High School, and attended Monterey Peninsula College and the University of California in Santa Cruz. She is majoring in anthropology.

Stuart Causey, Carmel, has been accepted for admission to Willamette University in Salem, Oregon.

Causey attended Carmel High School and is the son of Dr. James Causey, 26 Handley Drive.

Miss Marilyn Gail Adams, P.O. Box 1625, Lobos Street, Carmel, a recent graduate of Junipero Memorial High School has been granted Honors at Entrance to the University of the Pacific in Stockton.

Carmel Fire Call

A report of smoke pouring from the R. H. Fisher home at Carmelo street and 11th avenue caused a general alarm for the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department at 2:54 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen found Fisher had overloaded his fireplace with tree clippings, clogging the vent. The fire was doused and smoke ejected from the house.

$7500 Pledged To Save Jacks Peak Park Site

Clinton Eastwood Jr. and James S. Garner, motion picture and television actors, have pledged $7500 as final payment for Jacks Peak Park site, providing the remaining $2000 is raised from public donations by Sept. 1.

The two actors recently purchased 340 acres of the Hatton Ranch in Carmel Valley. Their property adjoins the park site on the south side.

John R. McDaniel, co-chairman of the Save Jacks Peak committee said they are now making the final appeal to the people of the Monterey Peninsula to make their donations to wipe out this remaining debt.

McDaniel explained that Eastwood and Garner have made it possible to realize the original aim of the Monterey Foundation and the Nature Conservancy, which set out to raise half the total purchase price of the 55 acres, the county contributing the other half.

McDaniel said, "The County has met its agreement. We have until Sept. 1 to meet ours."

Donations to raise the remaining $2000 are to be sent to Save Jacks Peak, P.O. Box Save Jacks Peak, Monterey 93940.

"A TERRIBLY SEDUCTIVE LITTLE HOUSE"

"—And I hate to give it up!"—that's what the owner said about this delightful little post adobe on a knoll overlooking all the beautiful things of Carmel Valley. This is a SMALL-SCALE adobe, and we are looking for a couple or a single person who may have almost given up finding a true ranch house in a petite size. Fabulous master bedroom (because of the views) and luxurious bath, den or guest bedroom and bath, living-dining combination, top-knotch kitchen, service room, AND a huge studio. Present owner is a painter, and it was planned for ideal working conditions for an artist. Hot and cold water, skylights, and sliding doors open to the sweeping views. On a full acre knoll just above the valley floor, and priced at $55,000. Assume a loan of just under $33,000. (First time ever on the market.)

WHY PICTURE WINDOWS ARE MADE

Look at the view from this Carmel home and you'll know! Also, look at the amazing amount of parking (in CARMEL?) Also look at the lanai, the minimum yard maintenance, the three bedrooms and den, the 3 fireplaces (all with kindlers). Notice the dead-end street, the privacy and convenience of the location. This is a gregarious house; you'll want to invite a lot of people to come and look at yur very special view of Carmel Bay, Point Lobos and the mountains. Best of all, the price is a most realistic $49,500.

A FAIRWAY HOME

The predominant feeling in this lovely home is one of order. The serene view of the beautiful, manicured fairway, golfers obviously enjoying the setting, the game, and their companions, viewed from a beautiful organized home which is in white-glove condition, all somehow restore one's perspective, and the pleasures of life once more seem important. o plan to see this easy-to-live-with home on the 5th fairway of the Dunes Course, and look forward to a few holes before dinner! 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and the price is just $54,000.

John Garth Completes Mosaic

Adorning the promenade of Carmel Valley's newest of three Safeway Stores will be the work of noted San Francisco Artist, John Garth.

The Mosaic stands 10 feet tall and is 33 feet long. Over 40,000 individual pieces of tesera ceramic tile were hand set by the artist to make up the massive rendition of "The Story of Carmel".

Like many of Garths previous murals, history blends with the present as modern young lovers rest by the shore of Carmel Bay while early California padres barter for fish with the Indians.

This will be Garths third mural for the Safeway stores.

A former San Francisco Art Commissioner, John Garth has won heartening recognition during his lifetime—from his University's coveted European Travel prize, while still a Yale undergraduate, "For Excellence in Portraiture and Mural Design"—to the recent National Gold Medal of Honor awarded by the American Artists' Professional League "For Distinguished Service to American Art."

John Livingstone Will Show At Fair

With half of his blue ribbon missing, photographer John Livingstone of Carmel is prouder of his half ribbon than he is of the 11 whole ribbons he has won at Monterey County Fairs in 13 years.

The other half of the ribbon belongs to Kim Novak, who selected the black and white print which won last year's ribbon award.

This year's photographic exhibit will be limited to black and white prints and will display the work of both amateur and professional photographers from the five-county area.

Livingstone, his wife and three daughters will leave for Switzerland shortly after the fair closes, where the photographer plans to tour Europe with his camera, seeking more prize-winning photos for future Monterey County Fairs.

School Budget Approved New Teachers Hired

all but 8.2 cents was part of the 37 cents override tax approved by the voters in March of 1967. The remaining 8.2 cents is being levied for District-paid health and accident insurance coverage for employees. Most of the increase was the result of salary increases for teachers.

The general fund figure for acquisition of land, building, grounds and equipment improvements came to $3,344,715. The Building fund which will go for the three-room primary unit at Tularcitos School totaled $94,745. The Cafeteria account total was $99,208, but it was pointed out that the cafeteria is very nearly self-supporting.

Nine New Teachers

At Carmel High School Joel N. Johnson, who has been teaching in the Fremont School District, will teach Spanish; Robert D. Brooks, from Compton, California, will teach drafting and physical education, and Mrs. Sally Equinoa, from Arroyo Grande, will teach health and physical education.

At Middle School, Mrs. Jan Michaelson from Southfield, Michigan, will teach English and Reading; Mrs. Betsy Taylor who taught in Scotts Valley last year, will teach reading, and Clell C. Seelig, who has been teaching in an Air Force School in Anchorage, Alaska, will teach Science.

New elementary teachers will be Miss Mary Feeny, who taught in Coronado last year; Mrs. Imogen Speiser, who has previously taught at Tularcitos, and Gerald S. Warner, who lives in Carmel, who has been teaching Science in Marina.

Miss Christine Christy, mathematics teacher at Carmel Middle School, was granted a leave of absence without pay to complete her master's degree.

The resignation of Barry Lastinger, social science and math teacher at Middle School, was accepted with a letter of protest to go to the State Credentials Commission at the lateness of the date.

Teacher Aides

Supt. Dr. Harris J. Taylor reported that Title I Economic Opportunity funds will be used for four or five teacher aides this year. The reading program will benefit, he said.

Traffic Light at Rio Road

Taylor told the board that the traffic light promised for Rio Road two years ago is guaranteed by the end of September by the Highway Commission which has had the money allocated and the plans drawn. Dr. Newton suggested that parents be informed that bussing of students in that area will be discontinued.

Taylor reported that a compilation of discipline problems at the high school and Middle School is being prepared.

Palo Colorado School

An adjourned meeting will be held Monday, August 12, 7:30 p.m. at CHS Brey Hall, at which time interested citizens may discuss the future plans of Palo Colorado School.

Bids for the construction of Tularcitos School will also be awarded.

Next regular meeting of the school board will be on August 28, 7:30 p.m. at Brey Hall.

was said to be out of the state.

Allocation of the $1.26 tax rate was as follows: For general city services, 56 cents; for capital outlay, 10.4 cents; for retirement fund, 25 cents; and for library purposes, 34.6 cents.

It may be hoped that—before another year's budget sessions become history—a thorough weighing and measuring of the entire city payroll may be accomplished with the hope of achieving reasonable economies.

There are still those who wonder, for example, why it was necessary, and why it continues to be necessary, to have divided and to keep divided, the once single job of city building inspector into four full-time jobs, even though the original action to do this, was taken five years ago, thus increasing payroll costs from some $6,000 a year to some $30,000 a year.

Dog Law, Hippies, Hitchhiking Occupy Carmel City Council

must be on a leash in the business zones or at Sunset Center, that dogs running on the beach must be in the charge of persons directly responsible for them, and that vicious dogs cannot be allowed "to run at large or to be at liberty anywhere within the city limits." A new impounding fee schedule was established: $3.00 for each licensed dog; $5.00 for each unlicensed dog, and 50 cents shelter-fee for each day a dog is impounded. The impounding fee is to be doubled for a second impounding, and quadrupled for "any subsequent impounding."

Two standard street lights are to be placed at each side of the main entrance to Devendorf Park, an automatic sprinkler system is to be used to improve the park's lawns, and a new urgency ordinance "regulating conduct on public property" is in effect, as a result of other City Council actions last night. Portions of last week's ordinance on this subject, which concerned unlawful "climbing of trees, etc." and unlawful "loitering and boisterousness," were revised and incorporated in the new ordinance.

Concern about numbers of unwanted visitors—"hippies"—was expressed by Council members who said they were receiving constant complaints from long-time local residents, and the new "good conduct" ordinance was intended to abate the cause of the complaints.

Because—as one of last night's City Council resolutions said—the "State of California has pre-empted the field of legislation concerning the control and prohibition of hitch-hiking," the Council asked the State Legislature either to permit the City of Carmel separately to regulate hitch-hiking within the city, or else enact new state legislation spelling out violations within cities which would give cities such as Carmel the help they require. The relief sought, the Council said, was asked because "the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is plagued by an infestation of 'hippies' whose only means of transportation appears to be hitch-hiking . . ." A copy of the Carmel resolution is to be placed before the annual meeting of the League of California Cities which is to be held in Los Angeles in October.

Noting an increase of litter along sidewalks in business streets, the Council voted to place new and larger trash containers along Ocean Avenue and to move existing smaller ones to side streets, to sweep streets on Sundays as well as other days, and to employ a part-time worker in the street department for sidewalk clean-up. Councilman Frank Falge's report about use of sidewalk space by such firms as Kip's Grocery, led the Council to act to direct that appropriate portions of the City law be used to terminate such use and thus to eliminate accompanying litter.

"Housewatch" service and "doorshake" attention—both of which have been performed by the police department hitherto without charge—will continue to be performed, but only for a price. Business firms will be charged a basic dollar-a-month if they want to continue to get "doorshake" service, and home owners will have to pay a basic 25 cents per day for "housewatch" service. Mayor Barney Laiolo, who has accompanied policemen on "housewatch" duty, said the service could certainly be described as "cheap at the price."

In other action last night, the City Council decided to place stop signs to halt southbound traffic at the Santa Lucia intersections where such signs have not hitherto been placed; turned down a federal HUD (Housing & Urban Development) proposal to approve a federal leased-housing arrangement for Carmel for which no one here has asked; and approved a series of new definitions for terms used in the City's planning and zoning code.

with the new law, the Carmel Police force will now be able to make Carmel the way it used to be.

Carmel attorney Francis Heisler will represent Robert McGinley and James McClain, both of the Monterey Peninsula, charged with violating the new ordinance.

In Court Heisler requested a demurrer, a legal move under which the lawyer may challenge the sufficiency or constitutionality of the charges.

The case will be heard Sept. 5 at 1:30 p.m. when McGinley and McClain are scheduled to enter a plea.

The complete text of the new ordinance is on page 4 of this issue.
